Providence St Vincent Internal Medicine Residency Program

- 523-bed tertiary care center
- Center of excellence for stroke and cardiovascular care
- Guidance from expert teachers whose professional careers are dedicated to excellence in teaching and clinical care
- Our mission is to train tomorrow's expert clinicians and physician leaders by creating a supportive, nurturing environment, fostering intellectual rigor, curiosity, respect, and the principles of lifelong learning and the primacy of the patient
- Equip residents with the tools required of the 21st century physician, including scientific knowledge, technological facility, critical and analytic skills, and a foundational understanding of evidence based, value-oriented health care and quality improvement
- We believe it is a joy and a privilege to be a physician. We recognize that improving the health of patients and communities requires understanding, creativity, compassion, and resilience
- We are committed to a diverse and inclusive work force that reflects and represents the communities we serve, and that redressing present and historical inequities requires steadfast and proactive resolution. Whether in primary care, hospital care, or a medical subspecialty, our residents will be well prepared for a career of excellence in clinical care, service and leadership

Contact Us:

Jeff Youker, MD-Program Director

jeff.youker@providence.org

Shahana Baig-Lewis, MD- Associate Program Director

Shahana.baig-lewis@providence.org

Website:

https://gme.providence.org/oregon/providence-st-vincent-internal-medicine-residenc/

@psvimresidency