St. Joseph Internal Medicine Residency

- Majority of training happens at St. Joseph Medical Center, a 374-bed hospital located in the heart of Tacoma, Wash., complete with a level II trauma center and cancer center. We are also an accredited heart failure institute and designated comprehensive stroke center
- We value humility, drive, and resiliency in our residents. We strive to create an atmosphere of collegiality and comradery, while also challenging you to become the best version of yourself
- We believe taking care of patients is a privilege and we live a culture of accountability to ourselves, our patients, and each other
- Provide regular resilience training to emphasize wellness in medicine
- Graduate residents who will educate and inspire the next generation of physicians
