Michael Graham, MD FACP

“One of the most organized attendings I have ever worked with. Clear expectations and student role made learning easy. Ample opportunities for direct patient care, and for building diagnostic and management plans. Was always a joy to work with. I learned a tremendous deal.”

“Dr. Graham was both encouraging and established high expectations with frequent feedback that was constructive. He helped identify areas I need to work on and allowed for opportunities to do so. He was readily available for questions and provided helpful answers.”
Washington ACP Community Service Award

Anita Chopra, MBBS

“I would like to nominate Dr. Chopra for her outstanding work for the community of the greater Seattle area. For the past 8 years, Dr. Chopra has been instrumental in organizing biannual free health camps for people who lack access to care.”

“Over these past years, Dr. Chopra has worked hard to collaborate with local county officials and health centers to make these services possible for a diverse population in need. She has worked tirelessly for health care equity!”
Majd Isreb, MD FACP

“Dr. Isreb has been serving Cowlitz County for the last 10 years. He is committed to patient care and has served on many hospital committees as well as serving as Chief of Staff. He has been president of the Syrian American Medical Association Foundation and is constantly serving on medical missions to refugee camps both in Syria/ Jordan as well as Central America. His commitment to excellent patient care can’t be surpassed. His commitment to Syrian refugees/ other underserved patients is truly humbling.”
Washington ACP Hospitalist of the Year

Joey Parker, DO FACP

“Dr. Joey Parker is a role model clinician, educator, hospitalist, and human. He has won multiple resident-submitted institutional teaching awards for his unending commitment to education.”

“Through his actions, he leads through disciplined focus combined with sheer inspiration. As a coach, he praises effort and progress while helping set new and ever-higher goals and identify strategies to achieve them. As a personal confidant, he has been available to discuss personal issues or struggles as a listener and supporter.”
Washington ACP Chapter Service Award

Kemi Nakabayashi, MD FACP

“Dr. Nakabayashi has been invaluable to the Chapter in her capacity as Chair of the Membership Committee. Not only has she worked incredibly hard on behalf of the Chapter for many years to execute numerous recruitment and retention initiatives but also she has developed creative, innovative approaches to membership engagement.”

“I can think of no better person to receive this award in our inaugural year of offering it!”
Washington ACP Full-time Faculty Clinician-Educator

Elizabeth Kaplan, MD

“Over more than a decade as a faculty physician, Dr. Kaplan has distinguished herself in teaching, scholarship, and clinical work. She has made impressive contributions to the development and nurturing of medical students at the University of Washington and is exactly the sort of physician everyone in the Washington ACP chapter would admire and hope to learn from.”

“Elizabeth is the consummate clinician/educator. She has the highest teaching rating of all our faculty from both medical students and residents.”
Kim Matsumoto

“Medical student Matsumoto is exemplary in her level of professionalism and approach to patient care. She takes complete responsibility for her patients and her involvement in their care improved outcomes.”

“Kim was a major contributor to the high morale on our team during busy periods. She is empathetic with excellent communication skills. Her clinical judgement is as good as an experienced resident!”
“She is respected by her colleagues for her medical knowledge and practice. Patients followed her for decades because of her good personal care for them. She has been involved in leadership of the local chapter, arranging a "Choosing Wisely" education session in Bellingham. She became an Internist at the time when few women were in the role and people were skeptical about our abilities.”
